Customer Reviews

The Homeschooling Book of Lists is a comprehensive, authoritative, and user-friendly resource for homeschoolers or anyone considering teaching their child at home. Written by Michael and Mary Leppert, two experts in the field of homeschooling, this easy-to-use book is filled with information, tips, and resources that will help you give your child an outstanding education. The book covers a wide variety of topics including what to consider before homeschooling, state-by-state guidelines for homeschoolers, curriculum resources by subject area, and getting your homeschooled student into college. The Homeschooling Book of Lists offers: A variety of proven homeschooling models and methods Religious and ethnic homeschooling resources Guidance on finding help for special needs learners Information on tutors and tutoring, homeschooling suppliers, charter schools, and independent study programs Resources for testing and test preparation Valuable coupons to help you save money In addition, this important resource contains frequently asked questions and a glossary of common homeschooling terms. "In the dynamic resurrection of the ancient art of home education over the past three decades, Mary and Michael Leppert stand out among the most effective forces making it happen. Now they have distilled for us the essence of homeschooling's possibilities. This is the best kind of useful field guide to a rewarding alternative to school-as-usual. What a stupendous piece of work!" &#151;John Taylor Gatto, author, The Underground History of American Education and Weapons of Mass Instruction "One of the most convenient and useful references I've seen&#151;this book will be a blessing to countless parents, saving them time and helping them find just what they need, whatever their goals may be." &#151;Andrew Pudewa, director, Institute for Excellence in Writing and homeschooling father "This book contains a wealth of information for both new and veteran homeschoolers, and would be a valuable addition to any homeschooler's library." &#151;Dr. Mary Hood, author of The Relaxed Homeschooler and homeschooling mother

Michael and Mary Leppert are homeschooling parents and co-publishers of The Link homeschool magazine, the largest homeschooling publication in the U.S.

Super great book for homeschoolers

I'm preparing for homeschooling and I checked out this book from the library and found it extremely helpful. It is a bit brief but it gets straight to the facts which I like so it's not overwhelming. I liked it so much I just ordered a used copy on . I think if you are a beginner and looking for some resources, I would for sure buy this book im a 1st time hs parent and this book was very helpful with places to look and get info on anything

I got this book by accident because I was looking for the Homeschoolers Book of Lists, but this is still a good find. The other book is filled with topical information and lists to be used in the actual classroom, like lists of terms or historical dates. This book in contrast is a guide for resources to be used by the teacher, like lists of websites on Charlotte Mason, or lists of curriculum publishers, teaching styles, etc. I learned a lot right away. Great information to have on hand. Will add nicely to my reference library. I didn't give it 5 stars because in some areas I felt it was a little too brief, but they do at least direct you to several resources to get more info.

The lists are great but I have found about half of the websites I was looking for in Unit Studies were no longer available. It's just the nature of this kind of book that will happen but then there should be a way to get updates, like on the website or e-mailed or else print an updated version every year or so.

It is exactly what was needed. Thank you very much. We will definitely be using this for our children.
Great price
