Richard Devetak is Senior Lecturer in International Relations at the School of Political Science and International Studies at University of Queensland. Anthony Burke is Associate Professor of Politics and International Relations at the University of New South Wales, Canberra, Australia. Jim George is Senior Lecturer in the School of Politics and International Relations at the Australian National University.

It's a good comprehensive introduction of the field, which was very handy for someone that had no experience with International Relation, and was getting ready to read a lot more dense books in the subject. It has been good in my preparations for the diplomacy career. There was a very bad incident with Cambridge University though. In the book, they offer you access to extra material through a link, but when I contact them, I was refused access to the content based on the fact that I have bought the book from ?! I found the answer from the editor very disrespectful for me as a customer, and still know I am arguing with in order to get access to the extra content. For me it's a disrespect with the reader that had paid such a higher price for the book.
