Tom Brown, Jr. began to learn hunting and tracking at the age of eight under the tutelage of an Apache elder, medicine man, and scout in Toms River, New Jersey, and is the author of 16 books on nature. Recently, he was the technical advisor on The Hunted, a major motion picture starring Tommy Lee Jones and Benecio Del Toro. In 1978, Tom founded the Tracker School in the New Jersey Pine Barrens where he offers more than 25 classes about wilderness survival and environmental protection.

Tom Brown Jr. has led a fascinating life due to his tracking skills. Tracker and Search were written with two different authors, and that made all the difference. Tracker is not just an account of an interesting lifestyle, it is a work of literature. The Tracker author told Tom's story with sensitivity, intelligence and depth. I read and reread whole paragraphs because of the beautiful use of language. It was a spiritual/philosophical work and I hated to finish reading it; the images created were so moving. Clearly, Brown knows a whole lot more about tracking than he does writing, which explains the downgrading of the writing and depth of Search.

In the story of the search, it seemed to me a follow up to the Story of the Tracker by this same author, a part two if you will but in no way lacking in all of the detail and adventure of the process. The devotion to the Grandfather and his teachings are of great interest to all as his method was not listen and do exactly what I tell you, although that was the message he conveyed, but he brought the boys to the point of having to know the lessons taught, and then set out to become efficient if the use of the teachings, I found it hard to put the book down. There are a couple of places that brought tears to this readers eyes, I hope this story will have the same effect on all the readers. What a shame to not have been able to share in the teachings of the Grandfather, which would have been my fondest wish. To sit and listen to the ways of the Spirit World, and everything it involved would have been by far the best thing I could ever imagine, and I feel a great loss of not sharing in the teachings of Grandfather, what a life changing experience that would have been. Respectfully Kelly J

All I ever learned about the Spiritual life, I learned through the Tom Brown books. He absorbed Grandfather's lessons and was able to spell it out for the initiate -- plus add a tincture of adventure with Nature and the Animal world.

I love Tom Brown Jr.'s books; all of them. Great story, great content, well written--about spirituality, nature, survival, teachings--everything. Good as reread too.

not as interesting as the Tracker, but still it impregnates the aura of spirituality on the outdoors

I've loved Tom Brown's books since I was a teenager, back when they first appeared. I use them as reference books for my own fiction, and love reading them when I can't escape life in the city any other way. Deeply insightful, thought-provoking, touching insights into the workings of Mother Nature, but also thrilling adventure stories. I'm giving copies to my nieces and nephews, and hope they get out of them what I always did. I'd love to study with this man. Maybe someday...

Although it is a good read as all of his books it is a bit spooky to know most of it is probably a fairy tale and never happened.

Love Tom Brown Jr. Books!!!
